

Psalm 64 – Justice of God

Mike Stella, NorthRidge Member
Weekend of July 24-25, 2021

Sermon Summary

This week we continue our Get Real series by exploring Psalm 64 and looking at how to handle personal injustice. The injustice that happens to us on a personal level is without question the hardest one to deal with...because after all, it's personal. So, how do we deal with the attacks to our character? How do we operate with the co-worker that is slandering us at work? How do we reconcile a relationship with a family member who has turned the family against us? How do we deal with a business partner who has lied and broken our trust? How do we interact with those who hurl insults at us for standing for the truths of the Bible? This week we have a real conversation about how we can trust God to right these wrongs.

Discussion Questions

On a scale of 1-10, how serious are you about watching Olympics?

Have you ever had a public dispute – a disagreement in which others in your workplace, church, or organization were observers?

Have you ever received personal injustice? (You know, something that you felt was a direct violation of your character)

READ Psalm 64

What are your initial observations about this passage?

In times of personal attack or injustice, how do you typically respond?

How can we show the presence of God in our lives in these moments?

Is there a current issue that is keeping you up at night? How can the group pray for you in this situation?

Memory Passage

Psalm 64:9-10 – “9 All people will fear;
they will proclaim the works of God
and ponder what he has done.
10 The righteous will rejoice in the LORD
and take refuge in him;
all the upright in heart will glory in him!”

Verses We Read Together in Worship

1 John 1:9 – “If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just and will forgive us our sins and purify us from all unrighteousness.”
